VSL A — WHO'S TAKING CARE OF YOU?

Story-driven UGC | Nurse-character delivery | Emotional reward of a warm massage after a 12-hour shift

Scene 1 — Hook | 0:00–0:20

DIALOGUE / VOICEOVER	VISUALS · TEXT · PRODUCTION
"Can I tell you the worst part about a 12-hour nursing shift? It's not always the shift itself. It's getting home, taking your shoes off, and realizing your legs are still completely exhausted. You've spent the entire day taking care of everyone else. But who's taking care of you?"	VISUAL Nurse arrives home in scrubs, drops her bag, sits on couch, removes shoes. Tease boots operating in a fast insert. TONE / PERFORMANCE Intimate, exhausted, sincere; look into lens for final question. ON-SCREEN TEXT 12 HOURS ON YOUR FEET. NOW WHAT?

Scene 2 — Problem | 0:20–0:50

DIALOGUE / VOICEOVER	VISUALS · TEXT · PRODUCTION
"If you're a nurse, you know exactly what I'm talking about. Walking from room to room. Standing through handovers. Barely finding a moment to sit down. And when you finally get home, your legs feel heavy, your calves feel tired, and all you want is someone to give you a really good massage. But you're exhausted. You don't want to go anywhere. You just want to relax."	VISUAL Hospital corridors, handover station, walking between rooms; cut to nurse at home. TONE / PERFORMANCE Conversational, knowing, empathetic. ON-SCREEN TEXT HEAVY LEGS. TIRED CALVES. EVERY SHIFT.

Scene 3 — Agitation | 0:50–1:15

DIALOGUE / VOICEOVER	VISUALS · TEXT · PRODUCTION
"And that's the frustrating part. You finally have time for yourself, but you spend it waiting to feel comfortable again. You put your feet up. You stretch. Maybe you ask someone to massage your calves. But most nights, you just settle for doing nothing. Because after taking care of people all day, taking care of yourself feels like one more thing on your list."	VISUAL Nurse on couch with pillows under legs; phone scrolling; quiet exhausted expression. TONE / PERFORMANCE Slow slightly on the last line. ON-SCREEN TEXT WHO TAKES CARE OF THE CAREGIVERS?

Scene 4 — Mechanism | 1:15–1:55

DIALOGUE / VOICEOVER	VISUALS · TEXT · PRODUCTION

“That’s why I love the idea behind Soothera. These are leg and calf massage boots that combine two things in one: rhythmic air compression and comforting heat. The air chambers gently inflate and release around your legs and calves, creating this repeated squeezing sensation—almost like a hands-free massage. And you can add warmth to make the whole experience feel even more relaxing. You control the settings, choose what’s comfortable for you, and let the boots do their thing. All without leaving your couch.”	VISUAL Reveal Soothera boots wrapping around legs/calves; close-ups of controller, sequential inflation, heat setting. TONE / PERFORMANCE Lift energy into a satisfying product reveal. PROOF / EDIT INSERT Close-up of actual sequential compression cycle and heat controller; optional verified customer reaction. ON-SCREEN TEXT 2-IN-1 COMPRESSION MASSAGE + HEAT

Scene 5 — Solution / experience | 1:55–2:45

DIALOGUE / VOICEOVER	VISUALS · TEXT · PRODUCTION
“Imagine this. You get home after a long shift. You take a shower, put on something comfortable, and finally sit down. Then you slip on your Soothera boots. You feel the compression gently squeeze and release around your calves. You switch on the heat and enjoy that comforting warmth. And for the next little while, you don’t have to do anything for anybody. You can watch your show. Read a book. Close your eyes. No appointments to book. No driving somewhere for a massage. No complicated routine. Just a warm leg and calf compression massage, right there in your living room. It’s not about adding another task to your day. It’s about making the time you already spend resting feel a little more special.”	VISUAL Nurse changes into comfortable clothes; puts on boots; selects massage and heat; watches show or reads; alternating wide and macro product shots. TONE / PERFORMANCE Sensory, warm, aspirational but grounded. ON-SCREEN TEXT YOUR COUCH. YOUR TIME. YOUR MASSAGE.

Scene 6 — Proof / objection | 2:45–3:20

DIALOGUE / VOICEOVER	VISUALS · TEXT · PRODUCTION
“Now, I know what you might be thinking. “Do I really need another wellness gadget?” And that’s fair. But here’s what I’d look at. Can you adjust the massage intensity? Yes. Can you add heat? Yes. Can you use it while you’re already sitting down and relaxing? Absolutely. And you can actually see the air chambers inflating and releasing around your legs. It’s a simple way to enjoy a warm compression massage at home, whenever it fits your routine.”	VISUAL Clear demonstration of straps, controls, compression and heat; carrying bag/extenders. TONE / PERFORMANCE Reassuring, practical; quick, confident answers. PROOF / EDIT INSERT Product demo plus authentic customer review or approved testimonial. ON-SCREEN TEXT

VSL B — A WARM MASSAGE WAITING AFTER EVERY SHIFT

5P + Unique Thing + Objections (WHAT THEY THINK, WHY THAT'S INCOMPLETE, WHAT'S RIGHT, PROOF) | Nurse-led UGC | Demonstration and proof-first persuasion

Scene 1 — The 5P introduction | 0:00–0:55

DIALOGUE / VOICEOVER	VISUALS · TEXT · PRODUCTION
"Imagine coming home after a 12-hour shift and having a warm leg and calf massage waiting for you. No appointment. No driving anywhere. Just your couch."	VISUAL Nurse on couch wearing boots; show inflation and heat controller within first

“Because after walking hospital corridors all day, your calves are exhausted, your legs feel heavy, and the last thing you want is to go anywhere else.” “You put the boots on, adjust the massage intensity, turn on the warmth, and relax while they run.” “Picture yourself after your next shift. A warm massage around your calves, your favorite show on, and finally a few minutes that belong entirely to you.”	seconds; customer reaction insert. TONE / PERFORMANCE Confident, direct, vivid and conversational. PROOF “That’s why I want to show you Soothera. Watch this. These air chambers inflate and release around my legs, creating a rhythmic compression massage. And there’s heat, too.” PROOF / EDIT INSERT Real close-up compression footage + authenticated customer reaction to warmth and massage sensation. ON-SCREEN TEXT YOUR POST-SHIFT MASSAGE. AT HOME.

Scene 2 — The unique thing | 0:55–1:30

DIALOGUE / VOICEOVER	VISUALS · TEXT · PRODUCTION
“Here’s what makes Soothera different from simply resting your legs. It combines two experiences in one. First, the air chambers inflate and release in sequence, creating a rhythmic squeezing sensation around your legs and calves. It’s a hands-free compression massage. Then there’s the heat. You can add comforting warmth, making those quiet moments on the couch feel even more relaxing. And because the settings are adjustable, you choose what feels comfortable for you. Compression massage and heat, together in one pair of boots.”	VISUAL Macro sequence of chambers, controls, heat setting, labeled motion graphics. TONE / PERFORMANCE Explanatory without sounding clinical; emphasize warmth. PROOF / EDIT INSERT Show compression and heat controls accurately; insert genuine customer review mentioning both features. ON-SCREEN TEXT 2-IN-1 COMPRESSION MASSAGE + HEAT

Scene 3 — Objection 1: Why not elevate my legs? | 1:30–2:05+

DIALOGUE / VOICEOVER	VISUALS · TEXT · PRODUCTION
“Now, you might be thinking, “Why would I need these when I can just put my feet up for free?”” “And putting your feet up is great. But don’t you think you deserve a little more? After all the hard work you do, and all the care you give to everyone else, don’t you deserve a warm, personalized leg massage of your own?”	VISUAL Split screen: nurse elevating legs versus using Soothera. On emotional question, switch to intimate direct-to-camera close-up; end on chambers moving in sequence. TONE / PERFORMANCE Understanding at first, then caring and

"With Soothera, you have your very own leg and calf compression massager, with adjustable settings and comforting heat. And it's right there whenever you're ready to unwind." "Just look at the air chambers inflating and releasing in sequence, moving along your legs and calves. That's the rhythmic, massage-like sensation you can enjoy without even leaving your couch."	emotionally persuasive; never scold the viewer. PROOF / EDIT INSERT Clear inflation footage and approved customer reaction; do not imply medical superiority over elevation. ON-SCREEN TEXT DON'T YOU DESERVE A LITTLE MORE? · RESTING YOUR LEGS ≠ COMPRESSION MASSAGE

Scene 4 — Objection 2: Will I actually use these? | 2:05–2:40+

DIALOGUE / VOICEOVER	VISUALS · TEXT · PRODUCTION
"Okay, but let's be real. Am I actually going to use these? Or are they going to end up sitting in my closet with all the other things I bought and forgot about?" "Here's the difference. We're talking about a warm leg and calf massage. The real question is, how often can I use it? And the answer is: as often as you want. You might even sneak in a massage at work, under your desk." "You don't need to go anywhere or completely change your evening. You sit down, put the boots on, choose your massage and heat settings, and relax." "Look how simple the setup is. And here's what I really like: a click of a button is all it takes."	VISUAL Nurse arrives home, puts boots on and uses controller; playful cut to under-home-office-desk scenario on wink; return to uncut setup demo. TONE / PERFORMANCE Lighthearted, playful, confident; mischievous wink on desk line. PROOF / EDIT INSERT Uncut setup, accurate setup-time graphic, authenticated repeat-user review, short real-life routine UGC. Usage frequency and desk suitability must match product guidance. ON-SCREEN TEXT YOUR MASSAGE. YOUR SCHEDULE. · YOUR COUCH. YOUR ROUTINE. YOUR MASSAGE.

Scene 5 — Objection 3: Is it worth $119.95? | 2:40–3:15+

DIALOGUE / VOICEOVER	VISUALS · TEXT · PRODUCTION
"And then there's the big question: "Do I really want to spend $119.95 on this?"" "That's fair. But let me ask you something. After everything you do for other people, why wouldn't you invest a little in yourself? Especially when it's something you can come home to and enjoy after a long day." "Soothera knows what you go through and knows what you deserve, because we've been in your shoes. That's exactly why Soothera was created."	VISUAL Nurse to camera; product and accessory details; founder/healthcare background footage supporting origin story. TONE / PERFORMANCE Sincere, personal, reassuring; avoid overly authoritative delivery. PROOF / EDIT INSERT Founder footage verifying healthcare background, genuine reviews, accurate accessories and controls. Consider softening "knows what's best

A/B test — execution and measurement

Test hypothesis
VSL A may build more emotional resonance and watch time among problem-aware healthcare workers. VSL B may qualify purchase intent sooner through an immediate product demonstration, proof and direct objection resolution.

Variables held constant
Same audience and prospecting objective; product and offer ($119.95); landing page; CTA; placements and format; approximate video length; talent style; proof authenticity; spend and delivery conditions where possible.

Primary variable
Persuasion architecture: emotional narrative (A) versus 5P + unique mechanism + objection handling (B). Because hooks and reveal timing also differ, this is a creative-package test rather than a pure single-variable structure test.

Primary outcome
New-customer CPA and purchase volume at meaningful spend.

Diagnostic metrics
3-second views / hook rate; 25%, 50%, 75% video retention; outbound CTR; CPC; landing-page view rate; add-to-cart rate; checkout initiation; purchase CVR.

Decision rules
Do not select the winner on CTR or hold rate alone. Review landing-page conversion and CPA together. If VSL B earns more clicks but fewer purchases, inspect intent mismatch; if VSL A holds attention but fails to generate clicks, test a stronger early product reveal and CTA.

Proof checklist
Real compression demo; verified heat setting; genuine customer reaction; authenticated review on repeated use; accurate setup demonstration; founder/healthcare origin evidence; actual included accessories; confirmed warranty and guarantee terms.

Timing / production
The supplied spoken dialogue and proof inserts may run longer than the indicated scene windows. Conduct a timed read-through and allow approximately 4–5 minutes or tighten repetition without rushing the emotional beats.

Medical / claim review
Keep claims focused on massage-like sensation, warmth, comfort and convenience. Confirm device usage limits and contraindications before publishing. Avoid unsubstantiated treatment claims or fabricated customer evidence.
